6. Roxbury, Oct. 29, 1877.

Dear friend Stacy:

61

Accept my thanks for your letter, just received. It shows that your instincts and convictions, at this crisis, are in the right direction. Before receiving it, as you will be relieved to know, I had already sent a reply to the Journal, explicitly defining my present position in regard to Gov. Rice and Judge Pitman, and also President Hayes and his mischievous Southern "policy" - the policy of complete surrender to the rebel spirit now exultingly dominant in that section. An editorial attempt is made to break the force of my reply, but it is too weak to call for a rejoinder from me. I am glad to believe that you will be satisfied with what I have written.

Yours truly,
Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

1. The first part of the book is devoted to a general
description of the country and its inhabitants.
The second part contains a detailed account of the history of the country from the earliest times to the present day.

Chap. I.

P.S. Should you fail to procure a copy of the Journal containing my reply, let me know, and I will send you one.

Geo. Dr. Tracy.
